

Mobile Mini Coronavirus Response

Mobile Mini is monitoring the Coronavirus pandemic on a regular basis, as the fluidity of the virus instills a need for continuous updates to our plans and policies. Our “Safety First” Core Value as a company is something we will continue to prioritize.

Employees are frequently updated on precautions to take. Some of these include keeping physical contact to a minimum through remote work/ telecommuting and Skype/ Zoom video meetings while also maintaining good hygiene practices and informing their employer if they are not feeling well. Should employees feel ill, they are encouraged to stay home and to follow outlines expressed by the CDC here:

<https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/index.html>.

We are implementing more diligent and frequent cleaning procedures in our Field and Service Center locations. Further, we are limiting meetings, trainings and/ or large gatherings to business critical only (on and off-site). Mobile Mini created an internal Task Force dedicated to monitoring the effectiveness of our response and to develop new strategies as needed. For example, reviewing staffing plans to ensure essential personnel are identified and available to safely operate facilities and business when necessary. Finally, we have communicated with our employees our flexible time-off policies to ensure their safety and the safety of others.

If employees are confirmed positive case, employees are not permitted at work. Employees are encouraged to seek medical advice and guidance from the health department. Mobile Mini will require employees to follow all CDC guidelines in their recovery.
